

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

NATIONAL AND REGIONAL PLAYER
DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Sea Island[®]

New Golf Performance Center opening early 2019

ABOUT THE PROGRAM—

The Player Development Program is a structured, on-site quarterly training program for players looking to take their game to the highest level. While at Sea Island, a player-specific plan is developed for long-term skill development, with strategies established to reach each player's aspirations. Players also have remote, online training sessions between on-site visits to ensure comprehension and progress. Each player's instruction time is based on his or her statistical weaknesses and key indicators of success evaluation.

The Sea Island Golf Performance Center has a rich history of developing high-level golfers, from college to professional players. Our holistic approach allows our renowned staff to assist players in all areas of their game, at a world-class level.

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM (PDP) OVERVIEW

The mission of the PDP is to coach and assist in the development of players through an elite training program. We help motivated players develop their skills to reach their competitive aspirations through high school, college, and professional golf.

Players are trained using our Key Indicators of Success, which are needed for a competitive player to excel. By keeping statistics on their game, players track their weaknesses and understand their strengths. Individual evaluation results and statistics direct them as they work with appropriate team members during each visit. The program includes 64 hours of personalized instruction with a combination of Sea Island specialist coaches, as well as online training from home with the Lead Player Development Coach. Players also have access to practice in private Sea Island practice areas and receive a discount at all Sea Island hotels when available.

LEAD PLAYER DEVELOPMENT COACH

As Lead Player Development Coach, Daniel Gray oversees all players in the PDP, working with players on the mechanics of their full swing and short game and playing the role of overall coach. Daniel assists players with tournament selection and preparation, yardage book design, on-course decision making, and overall practice planning. He has helped develop programs at the University of Northwestern and multiple private clubs around the country.

TEAM COACHING APPROACH

The PDP's team coaching method is similar to that of the world's best tour professionals. This approach has been the foundation of the Sea Island Golf Performance Center coaching philosophy for decades. Our specialists have worked with some of the best juniors in the country, helping them develop into successful collegiate and PGA Tour players.

ELITE PDP COACHING STAFF

Daniel Gray, Lead Player Development Coach

Randy Myers, Director of Golf Fitness

Craig Allan, GPC Manager & Master ClubFitter

Dr. Morris Pickens, Performance Specialist

Phil Kenyon, Director of Putting and David Angelotti, Senior Putting Instructor

PROFESSIONAL PLAYER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM (PPDP)

A player in this program must be a current member of a college golf team with a desire to play professional golf. Competitive scoring average requirement is 73 or below in college or amateur events.

ELITE PLAYER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM (EPDP)

Players in this program have a desire to play at the collegiate level and are working weekly on their skills.

Age Requirements

13-18

Competitive Scoring Average Requirements

Boys ages 13-15: 78 or below

Boys ages 16-18: 76 or below

Girls ages 13-15: 80 or below

Girls ages 16-18: 78 or below

ADVANCED PLAYER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM (APDP)

This program is for players aspiring to play at the high school level and are currently participating in some tournament golf.

Age Requirements

11-14

Competitive Scoring Average Requirements

Boys ages 11-14: 80-85

Girls ages 11-14: 82-87

Practice areas

Sea Island®

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Contact Daniel Gray

Elite Instructor and

Lead Player Development Coach

danielgray@seaisland.com • 912-638-5119

Or check out the Juniors section on our website at seaislandgpc.com